

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FINANCIAL AID (OSFA)

The primary mission of the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) is to assist the prospective and currently enrolled student, and the student's family in securing the most suitable financial aid as the student pursues a degree* or certificate at UNCW. Through our outreach efforts, we support the university's mission, including the commitment to public service. To this end, we administer federal, state and institutional student financial aid programs in excess of $72 million to assist UNCW students.

Eligibility for the majority of our programs is determined using the U.S. Department of Education's Federal Methodology. Most gift aid is need based. However, a significant amount of non-need based funding is also available primarily in the form of loans. UNCW offers assistance in the form of scholarships, grants, loans, and Federal Work-Study jobs or a combination of these programs. Students are encouraged to file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) as soon after January 1 as possible to receive priority consideration for aid. Aid funds are disbursed to the student's account at the beginning of each semester. Funds may be available on the first day of class for those students whose financial aid files are complete. To ensure aid can be used to assist with fall semester charges, the FAFSA must be received by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid by July 15, 2009. Refunds are processed regularly for students who have a credit balance. In order to receive a refund the student will need to access the Student Accounts Web site to establish a student profile: <http://www.uncw.edu/studentaccounts>. This profile must be entered in order to receive any excess funds from loans, overpayments, scholarships and grant monies. The information provided in the profile is secure and confidential. The refunds are direct deposited into the checking or saving account that is specified. Contact Student Accounts with any questions.

To apply for financial aid, a student must complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Some students must submit other documentation as requested by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid. To receive federally funded financial aid, students must be making satisfactory academic progress as determined by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid; be a US citizen or eligible non-citizen; and meet other criteria as specified by the U.S. Department of Education. Questions concerning financial aid at UNCW should be directed to the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA).

*Students accepted as "Unclassified or Non-Degree" are only eligible to apply for alternative loans. Students pursuing additional undergraduate studies beyond their first bachelor's degree should contact the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) for information regarding eligibility requirements. Audited courses are not eligible for Title IV aid.

Residency for admission purposes does not affect dependency status for financial aid purposes.

GRANTS

The Academic Competitiveness Grant (ACG) and National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent Grant (National SMART Grant) programs are intended to promote and reward academic achievement and, in the case of National SMART Grants, to encourage the completion of bachelor's degrees in math, the sciences, engineering, technology, and certain foreign languages.

The two grants provide aid to Pell Grant recipients who meet additional criteria specific to each grant. For example, ACGs are awarded to first-year and second-year college students who have completed a rigorous high school program such as an advanced or honors diploma program. National SMART Grants are awarded to third-year and fourth-year college students who major in mathematics, science, technology, engineering, and certain foreign languages. Students must be U.S. Citizens to receive either ACG or SMART and earn a 3.00 GPA.

Students are considered for the grants by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

The Federal Pell Grant Program provides grants for students who show exceptional financial need. This grant is intended to cover the period required to complete the requirements for a first baccalaureate degree. Students who apply using the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) are automatically considered for this award.

The Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) Program provides aid to students who show exceptional need for assistance in attending college. Priority consideration is first given to students who are eligible for a Federal Pell Grant. Students apply using a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and are automatically considered for this award.

Diversity Scholarships – The university is aware of the importance of diversity in higher education and, in support of this, it provides scholarships to students. In order to be considered for these scholarships, students must be admitted to the University of North Carolina Wilmington as full-time students through the ability of the student to successfully complete a degree program at UNCW. A variety of factors are considered.

The university considers under representation of North Carolina cultural populations, based on the current census data, within the UNCW student body in making diversity scholarship awards.

The university also consider under representation of students from families with incomes below the average family income in North Carolina in making diversity scholarship awards. UNCW utilizes its diversity scholarships to help insure an increase in the diversity of the student body sufficient to enhance the academic experience available at the university. In so doing, the university employs the socio-economic diversity found within the population of the state as a measure of its effort to obtain greater diversity among its student population, including, but not limited to, consideration of exceptional financial need. To retain a diversity scholarship, each student must maintain at least a 2.00 average. University personnel may determine that a diversity scholarship may be retained despite the failure to maintain a 2.00 academic average when such a failure is clearly the result of documented exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the student.

Students admitted to UNCW do not need to file a separate application for this scholarship. All incoming freshmen are considered.

Incentive Scholarship and Grant Program for Native Americans is a state funded program established by the General Assembly of North Carolina. The program was established to increase Native American enrollment at the constituent institutions of the University of North Carolina. Eligibility is limited to degree students who maintain cultural identification as an American Indian through membership in an Indian tribe recognized by the state of North Carolina or by the federal government or through other tribal affiliation or community recognition. Students must file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to be considered. New students are automatically considered for these awards by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA). The OSFA determines renewals for continuing students.

The North Carolina National Guard Tuition Assistance Program is a state-funded tuition assistance program for active members of the North Carolina Guard. This program awards eligible guardsmen up to $2,000 per year for a maximum of four years. For additional information contact: Office of the Adjutant General, North Carolina National Guard, Attn.: AGRR, 4105 Reedy Creek Road, Raleigh, N.C. 27607, (919) 664-6000.

The North Carolina Vocational Rehabilitation Program is administered by local Vocational Rehabilitation Offices. Awards up to the amount of tuition, fees, books and funding for supportive services are available to students with mental or physical disabilities that are considered to be an impediment to employment. For more information, contact your local Vocational Rehabilitation Office or the North Carolina State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services at (919) 855-3500. Students who receive funding under this program must provide authorization letters to the UNCW Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid.

UNCW Grants are awarded to North Carolina residents who demonstrate significant financial need, based on the Federal Methodology, and who apply early. Since these funds are limited, later filers are considered only if funds are available. Students who file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) early are automatically considered for these awards.

Athletic Grants-In-Aid are awarded to qualified students by the UNCW Athletic Department. Additional information may be obtained by writing to the director of Athletics.

Out-of-State Students should contact their state agencies, responsible for state grants, to obtain information concerning funds for which they may qualify. The OSFA Web site provides links to each state agency in the U.S. responsible for these programs.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

UNCW has a limited number of scholarships that have been generously donated in honor of individuals or organizations. Each of these scholarships has specific and unique criteria. While some are available to one or more students each academic year, others are renewable and only become available after the current recipient has graduated or becomes ineligible for the scholarship. Because competition for scholarships is intense, merit scholarships are usually available only to the most outstanding new freshmen and continuing students as determined by the award authority. The value of the scholarship is determined based on annual earnings.

Unless otherwise noted, students must complete the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) web-based application online at <http://www.uncw.edu/finaid/namedscholar.htm> beginning in November for the following academic year. If you do not have Internet access, contact our office for alternative application instructions. This application only applies to scholarships awarded by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid. The scholarship application deadline is April 1st. When the notation "No application required." appears, students are automatically considered from university records. Scholarships designated "Honors" are for students accepted into the UNCW Honors Scholars Program. Those students are contacted by the Honors Scholars Program with further information. If financial need is part of the eligibility criteria for a scholarship, the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) must be filed by March 1st. You can file the FAFSA online at <http://www.fafsa.ed.gov/>. Most scholarships are awarded in the late spring or early summer for the upcoming academic year.

ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIPS

Unless otherwise indicated, applications may be secured from the UNCW Alumni Association Web site and must be completed and sent to the Alumni Relations office by the deadline as noted in the application.

To be eligible for this program a student must be enrolled full-time and be a North Carolina resident. The application deadline is in early February for the following academic year. Students may apply online at www.cfnc.org.

The North Carolina Sheriff's Association Undergraduate Criminal Justice Scholarship is an annual nonrenewable scholarship awarded on the basis of financial need and academic achievement. First preference goes to an applicant who is a son or daughter of any law enforcement officer killed in the line of duty. Second preference is given to a son or daughter of any sheriff or deputy sheriff who is deceased, retired, or currently active in N.C. law enforcement. Third preference is given to any N.C. resident criminal justice student who has financial need and demonstrates academic achievement. A 3.00 GPA is preferred for renewal. Applications are available from the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) each summer.

The North Carolina Teaching Fellows Program is designed to identify talented students interested in teaching and to assist those students in becoming teachers by the award of scholarship/loans for four years of undergraduate study, repayable through the means of service. Award recipients receive annual awards up to $6,500 for each of their four college years subject to legislative appropriation. Consideration under this program is given to entering freshmen. Interested applicants should contact their high school guidance office in the beginning of their senior year.

The Nursing Education Scholarship/Loan Program provides assistance to prospective North Carolina nurses. The recipient must be able to demonstrate need through the regular financial aid process. The program provides loans, which are canceled if the recipient practices full-time in North Carolina after graduation. Complete online application.

The Beatrice Sharpless-Moore Scholarship is awarded by the managers of the Sharpless-Moore Foundation, and is designed to recognize African American students for their commitment to higher education and their community. This scholarship provides a non-renewable $1,000 support for the freshman year to students who have graduated from a New Hanover County high school, who have demonstrated academic excellence in their high school studies, with a minimum 3.00 GPA, and who have been active in their community. Contact Office of Admissions.

The Matthew Shepard Memorial Scholarship is sponsored and awarded by Grow, a community service corporation for gay or lesbian students and includes in-state tuition, fees and a book stipend. Recipients must be actively involved in working for social/political change with the gay and lesbian community. A committee from Grow selects the recipients. For applications contact Grow, 341-11 S. College Road, Suite 182, Wilmington, NC 28403.

The Wilmington Kiwanis Club Scholarships are awarded annually to an entering freshman. The recipient must be a graduate of a public high school in New Hanover County. The scholarship is based on both academic ability and a demonstrated financial aid need. If satisfactory progress is made recipients may apply to have the scholarship renewed. Recipients are selected by the Wilmington Kiwanis Club. Contact the club at P.O. Box 7192, Wilmington, NC 28406.

The Wilmington Rotary Club, Cape Fear, Scholarship. Contact the club at P.O. Box 7192, Wilmington, NC 28406.

EMPLOYMENT

The Federal Work-Study Program (FWS), which is federally funded, provides part-time jobs on the UNCW campus or off campus with community service organizations, for students who have demonstrated financial need. To be eligible for Federal Work-Study, a student must be enrolled in a degree or teacher certification program and must be a U.S. citizen or an eligible non-citizen. Students who submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and indicate interest in this program are automatically considered.

The Institutional Work Program, also known as the Work Assistant Program, makes funds available for campus jobs for students regardless of financial status. These funds are allocated to departments with the selection of student work assistants determined by those departments. Students interested in the program should direct inquiries to the Career Services Office.

Off-Campus Employment is coordinated by the Office of Career Services. Part-time jobs, summer employment, internships and full-time opportunities are listed for students through the Career Services office, and are available through the internet in any UNCW computer lab or other computer with web access. Students seeking work experiences are encouraged to find work or volunteer experiences that will aid in their academic and career exploration.

LOANS

Entrance and Exit Interviews. Students who receive a Federal Subsidized Stafford, Federal Unsubsidized or Perkins Loan must complete a loan entrance interview prior to receiving the first disbursement of a loan.

Students who received a Federal Subsidized Stafford, Federal Unsubsidized or Perkins Loan must complete an exit interview prior to leaving UNCW. Exit interviews must be completed by students who withdraw or graduate.

Entrance and exit interviews may be completed on the Web. There are links to both interviews on the UNCW Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid Web site at: <http://www.uncw.edu/finaid/>.

It is important that students who borrow Perkins and Stafford loans realize that the loans require repayment, usually within 10 years after leaving school. Loan calculators are available at the interview Web site demonstrating estimated loan payments and approximate income required to make payment.

Federal Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS). PLUS loans may be secured to assist in covering educational costs. Parents may borrow up to the cost of attendance minus all other financial assistance. In determining eligibility, the credit worthiness of the borrower is of primary importance. Families should complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to initiate the application process. If the parent is denied due to credit the student is eligible for additional unsubsidized funds.

Federal Stafford Loans provide students with long-term, low-interest loans. All borrowers are required to complete the standard financial aid process to establish their eligibility based on financial need. Repayment of Stafford Loans begin six months after a student ceases to be enrolled at least half-time. There are a variety of repayment plans. A portion of the loan may be cancelled upon completion of employment under certain terms and conditions. Students who complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) are automatically considered.

Subsidized Stafford Loans are based on need as determined through the financial aid application process. Interest on the subsidized loan begins at the time of repayment at 6.8 percent.

Unsubsidized Stafford Loans expand the Stafford Loan Program for students who do not demonstrate need, as determined by federal guidelines. Interest is charged on the unsubsidized Stafford Loan from the time of disbursement. Dependent students may borrow up to $5,500 as freshmen (no more than $3,500 of which is subsidized), $6,500 as sophomores (no more than $4,500 of which is subsidized), and $7,500 as juniors or seniors (no more than $5,500 of which is subsidized). Independent students may borrow up to an additional unsubsidized loan in the amount of $4,000 as freshmen or sophomores, and $5,000 as junior or seniors.

Federal Perkins Loans provide students with long-term, low-interest loans for educational expenses. Under this program students may borrow up to $4,000 per year and a total of $20,000 for undergraduate study. Repayment begins nine months after graduation or withdrawal from school, and the borrower may take up to 10 years to repay the loan. The interest rate is five percent and begins accruing nine months after graduation or withdrawal from school. All or part of the loan may be canceled for service in certain professions. Applicants must complete the regular financial aid process. To be eligible for a Federal Perkins Loan, a student must be enrolled in a degree or certification program and must be a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen. Unlike the Federal Stafford Loan Program, Federal Perkins Loan funds are limited and are usually awarded to early filers with the greatest need. Students who complete the FAFSA are automatically considered.

Non-Federal Loans are often referred to as alternative loans because they represent an alternative to the federal loan programs. The Stafford Loans and PLUS Loan generally provide more favorable terms and conditions than non-federal loans. For that reason, we strongly recommend students and their families first apply for federal loans using the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) before considering non-federal loans. Non-federal loans may be helpful to students who need to borrow more than allowed under the federal loan programs and those students who are ineligible for federal loans. A very small percentage of students are ineligible for federal loans. The most common reason for this ineligibility is failure to meet UNCW's Satisfactory Academic Progress policy.

The North Carolina Student Loan Program for Health, Science and Mathematics provides financial assistance to North Carolina residents who demonstrate need as determined by the Board for Need-Based Medical Student Loans. Loans are available for study in the medical fields, mathematics and science programs that lead to a degree. Additional information can be obtained by writing or calling: The Student Loan Program, P.O. Box 14223, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27709, (919) 549-8614. The application deadline is in early spring for the following academic year.

The Nursing Education Scholarship/Loan Program provides assistance to prospective North Carolina nurses. The recipient must be able to demonstrate need through the regular financial aid process. The program provides loans, which are canceled if the recipient practices full time in North Carolina after graduation. Applicants should contact the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid for specific information.

The William L. Anderson Barlow and Mellie Hill Barlow Fund provides interest-free loans to eligible candidates when repaid within 10 years after graduation or last enrollment in a degree program. Eligible candidates include priority consideration for full-time students who are orphans or raised in orphan-like conditions and who need financial assistance in securing a college education. Applicants from single-parent homes may also be considered as may other categories of students depending on the availability of funds. A separate application is required and may be obtained from the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid.

The Marshburn Nursing Loan Fund provides monies to nursing student/students identified by the dean of the School of Nursing as needing financial assistance to complete the program. The student would be eligible for a no-interest loan to complete their training. Repayment of the loan must be made within 24 months from the date student ceases enrollment at UNCW.

The John and Belle Shishko Student Loan was created by John and Belle Shishko as a forgivable loan to a rising junior in the Department of Biology and Marine Biology who has at least a cumulative 3.00 GPA. If the student earns a 3.00 GPA, that semester's loan is forgiven and does not have to be repaid. It is the intent of the donors to fund the loan program to cover in-state tuition and fees for one semester with the option of renewing for three additional semesters if the student maintains grade and performance requirements. Students may apply to the Department of Biology and Marine Biology.

VETERANS EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS

The Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) provides certification for educational benefits to veterans and/or their eligible dependents, enrolled at the University of North Carolina Wilmington. The Veterans Services coordinator is concerned with the recruitment and retention of veterans at the university and ensuring they successfully complete their educational program. Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid assist students receiving educational benefits under Chapter 35 (Dependents), Chapter 32 (VEAP), Chapter 1606/1607 (reservists from all branches of the services, and Chapter 30 (individuals who served on active duty). Veterans who feel they have an entitlement should check with their local VA Office, the Regional Office in Atlanta (1-888-GIBill1) or the VA certifying official at their local educational institution. The veterans' coordinator does not determine a student's eligibility, but can assist a student with the process.

Two exceptions to the above are:

- A veteran who has a 20 percent or greater disability due to service connected cause(s) may be eligible for benefits under Chapter 31. Check with the Veterans Affairs Regional Office (1-800-827-1000).
- Veterans who served on active duty prior to December 31, 1976 and with unbroken service between July 1, 1985 and June 30, 1988 may be eligible for a combination of benefits: the Vietnam era GI Bill and the Montgomery GI Bill (Chapter 34 and 30).

A goal of the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) is to assist students eligible for veterans' benefits with counseling regarding their coursework and benefits while they work to successfully complete their desired educational objective within the guidelines of the North Carolina State Approving Agency. The monitoring of attendance, successful completion of courses and the pursuit of appropriate curricula are required. Services to veterans and dependents include referrals to peer and professional counseling, employment, community outreach services, tutorial services and special programs for educationally disadvantaged veterans.

All students receiving VA educational benefits are required to complete their class schedules each semester and to ensure prompt and timely correspondence between UNCW and the Veterans Administration. Veterans/dependents should make an appointment with the Veterans Services coordinator if they need personal counseling regarding their financial aid/VA benefits. Changes in the veteran's course of study must be cleared with the Veterans Services coordinator to ensure continuation of benefits. For further information about veteran benefits and eligibility requirements, students should contact the Veterans Services coordinator at (910) 962-3177, Fax (910) 962-3851 or e-mail to: veterans@uncw.edu.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS (SAP) FOR FINANCIAL AID ELIGIBILITY

The Standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid (Undergraduate Students)

Federal Regulations require UNCW to establish Standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) in the following three areas: cumulative GPA (qualitative), hours earned (quantitative), maximum time limit.

The Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (OSFA) is responsible for establishing SAP standards and monitoring students' progress at UNCW.

Financial aid recipients must maintain satisfactory progress in all three areas whether or not aid was received in the past. This requirement applies to all financial aid applicants and assesses all students equally, regardless of enrollment hour status (full-time, part-time, etc.). It is the student's responsibility to stay informed of UNCW's SAP standards and to monitor their own progress. Graduate students should see SAP in the graduate catalogue.

Financial Aid Programs Affected by This Policy: Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG), Academic Competitiveness Grant (ACG), National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (National SMART Grant), Federal Perkins Loan, Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans, Federal PLUS Loans and Federal Work-Study. This also includes North Carolina's State Scholarship and Grant Programs and UNCW's scholarship and grant programs.

Frequency of Evaluation: Financial aid satisfactory academic progress is monitored annually at the conclusion of each spring semester or at the time the student's Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) record is received by UNCW. If a student is academically suspended between monitoring periods, the student's eligibility for financial aid is suspended and must be reassessed by OSFA at the time the student is readmitted to UNCW.

Reinstatement of Eligibility: Eligibility may be regained only by remedying all deficiencies (except the maximum time limit). In rare cases, exceptions are granted through a formal appeal (See Reinstatement of Financial Aid Eligibility and Appeals sections).

I. Qualitative Measure Defined (Cumulative GPA)

The qualitative measure can be summarized as a student's cumulative grade point average (GPA) measured once a year at the completion of spring semester. Financial aid is suspended if the qualitative measurement is not met. The minimum GPA required may be found within the Minimum Cumulative GPA Required for Financial Aid chart that follows.

MINIMUM CUMULATIVE GPA REQUIRED FOR FINANCIAL AID
Total Quality Hours Plus Transfer Hours	Cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA)
1-26	1.50
27-58	1.75
59-88	1.90
89 or more	2.00

II. Qualitative Measure Defined: (Hours Earned Compared to Hours Attempted)

The quantitative measure for all students can be summarized as the total number of credit hours successfully completed divided by the total number of credit hours actually attempted. This includes grades of A, B, C, D, F, I, IP, W, WF, NR, Z and P.

Students must complete 75 percent of all attempted hours, including transfer hours.

It is recommended students attempt to earn at least 31 hours per academic year in order to graduate in four years.

For financial aid purposes, the following definitions and conditions apply:

- To earn hours at UNCW, one must receive a grade of A, B, C, or D (including "+" or "-"). All other grades, including F, I, W, WF, WP, Z or AU do not earn hours.
- Classes from which a student withdraws after the drop/add period count as attempted but not earned hours. Therefore, withdrawing from classes after the drop/add period negatively affects students' ability to satisfy the hours earned standard. (Also see Policy on Return of Title IV Funds)
- Financial aid recipients should report grade changes to the OSFA in order to reassess financial aid eligibility.
- When students repeat a course, the total attempted hours increase with each repeat, but the student may only earn hours for each successfully completed course once. Therefore, repeating courses may negatively affect students' ability to meet the SAP standard and complete 75 percent of attempted hours.
- Audited hours (AU) do not count toward graduation and students may not receive financial aid for audited courses.
- Accepted transfer credit counts as both attempted and earned hours.

III. Maximum Time Limit

A student is expected to complete a degree/certificate program within a prescribed time frame. There are maximum total accumulated attempted credit hour time frame restrictions to receiving financial aid. Financial aid is suspended if the maximum time frame for the student's program is exceeded.

The longer a student stays in school, the more likely the chances of not meeting the satisfactory academic progress policy because of maximum time limit.

To remain eligible for federal and state financial aid, undergraduate students must complete their degree requirements within 150 percent of the published length of their academic program. At UNCW, this means that students in programs requiring 124 hours for graduation are eligible for financial aid during the first 186 attempted hours as an undergraduate. All attempted hours are counted, including transfer hours, whether or not financial aid was received, or the course work was successfully completed. This also applies to students admitted under the five-year rule since their attempted hours include hours attempted during prior enrollment. Students who are attempting a double major are still required to complete one of the degrees within 186 hours. UNCW institutional aid is no longer available when the student has attempted 140 hours and the state surcharge is imposed.

Reinstatement of Financial Aid Eligibility

Financial aid eligibility may be regained by eliminating all satisfactory academic progress deficiencies (at the student's expense) until the requirements of this policy are met, or by appealing their satisfactory academic progress status. The sections following describe the areas a student is required to remedy in order to regain financial aid eligibility. Students who do not enroll for a semester, or pay for school at their own expense, do not automatically qualify to receive financial aid in a subsequent semester. The terms and conditions of the Satisfactory Academic Policy must be met.

- I. Cumulative GPA's can only be brought up by class attendance at UNCW or UNCW off-campus programs where UNCW credit is earned.
- II. Hours Earned deficiencies may be made up by successfully completing coursework at UNCW or at another institution. However, students who are enrolling elsewhere must complete the Transient Study Form and have the coursework approved by UNCW prior to enrolling in the other institution. After transient study coursework has been successfully completed, students must provide an academic transcript to the UNCW Registrar's Office. Once students are in compliance with all three standards, they must notify the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid in writing to request an evaluation of eligibility. This process cannot be completed until all grades and hours are posted to the student's official record at UNCW. No financial aid award is calculated until after the review process is complete. Evaluation cannot occur until after changes are due for the upcoming term; therefore, an award letter or deferment of charges may not be available for the semester the student regains eligibility. The student should make other arrangements to pay for tuition, fees, room, board, and all other expenses.
- III. Maximum Time Frame: Once the time limit has been exceeded, aid eligibility ends, even if the student is in compliance with the other two standards. Federal regulations do not allow an appeal for students who have attempted more than 150 percent of program requirements.

Appeals

Federal regulations allow for certain cases in which the school may waive the standards. Appeals for the waiver may be considered if a student's failure to comply with one or more areas of Satisfactory Academic Progress is due to events beyond the student's control, such as a student's extended illness, serious illness or death in the immediate family or other significant life experience that impacted the student's emotional and/or physical health, and if such mitigating circumstances can be appropriately documented for the specific term(s) in which the deficiency occurred. Eligibility may be regained by appeal. Contact the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid to obtain a Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Appeal Form. SAP appeals are considered on a case-by-case basis.

Appeals Procedure. Appeals (professional judgment) are the only mechanism available to correct unresolved SAP deficiencies. All appeals shall be documented using the current form.

Some appeals may be approved for a probationary term. If this is the case, the student may be required to sign a contract that specifies conditions necessary to be eligible for the following term. These conditions may include:

- Minimum GPA requirement;
- A minimum number of hours to be taken; and/or
- Corrective measures to enhance a student's success.

The contract states the consequences of failure to meet those requirements.

SAP Warning. Students in their first year at UNCW, who are not meeting SAP, are given an automatic warning and do not need to appeal after the spring of that first year. Academic progress is checked at the end of fall semester for students with a SAP warning. Those who do not meet academic progress will not receive aid for spring or the semester following their warning. If financial aid is suspended for spring and future semesters, the student must appeal to continue receiving federal, state and institutional aid. Financial aid may be extended up to one semester or one year if approved. In the event the appeal is not approved, the student is responsible for institutional charges.

SAP Appeals Committee. Student appeals for reinstatement of financial aid eligibility are reviewed by an appeals committee. The student does not meet with the Appeals Committee. All correspondence with the student is conducted by mail. The Appeals Committee is the final authority in determining whether financial aid is extended or denied a student. The committee communicates its decision to the student by mail. The committee's decision is final and cannot be appealed.

SUMMER SCHOOL FINANCIAL AID

Summer term is considered a trailer for financial aid purposes. Students are able to use any remaining financial aid eligibility from the 2008-2009 academic year to assist with summer expenses based on enrollment in the summer term. A summer financial aid application is available on the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid Web site www.uncw.edu/finaid after March 15 each year.

In order to have financial aid applied to the student account and receive a refund in the first session of summer, the student must be registered for six hours during summer session I. A refund of aid will not be available until the student has begun attending a minimum of six hours during the summer. For example, if the student is registered for three hours summer session I and three hours summer session II, a refund of financial aid funds will not be available until the beginning of summer session II when the student begins attending the full six hours.

Classes can be held until summer session II aid is applied to the student account. Students are responsible for book money and living expenses until summer II classes start at the end of June.

POLICY ON RETURN OF TITLE IV FUNDS

Federal financial aid funds are awarded with the expectation that students will complete the entire period of enrollment. Students "earn" a percentage of the funds they are disbursed with each day of class attendance. When a student who has received federal financial aid funds (Title IV Funds) leaves school before the end of the semester or period of enrollment, federal law requires UNCW to calculate the percentage and amount of "unearned" financial aid funds that must be returned to the federal government. Once a student has completed more than 60% of the enrollment period, students are considered to have earned all funding received. This calculation may have the effect of requiring the student to repay funds that have already been disbursed to the student. Students are encouraged to meet with their financial aid counselor prior to making the decision to withdraw from school.
